

1267 in a insulated chip levels made from of with a coherence of any insulation method of stacking horizontal or vertical chip organization to build a larger chip also said as to make a non conductive layer with small outer inner conductive measures while operation is possible with vertical threads copyright © 2017 christopher gabriel brown patent pending abstract utility