

Condensation Water Farms

The help we need is in cooling and heating the air itself to generate water where there may be a lack of air and more oxygen than happy a large scale condensation factory copyright crioner.com