

Executable Exclude-Able Chassis © Christopher G
Brown 587

traveling boards base chassis is a computing accessory that houses the card computer and makes the parts that are used in everyday computing optical disc drive USB support and screen and keyboard interface a possible exchangeable thing in the composition of computing shape executable exclude-able verses the board and chip system itself.