

Re Doping Pool Battery Batches For Refining © Christopher G Brown 631

a large recycled battery pool that makes other small batteries with less time and higher concentrations of elements - rechargeable battery plant that has automated chemical pool recharging and sending receiving charging and re doping electron ions and neutron batches for refining and element source reclaiming and storage for electricity on any large or small scale in acres or inches and years or instance of positive or negative charge to make it a recycle instead of a single cycle. Copyright Cri-one.com