

802 Co Processing active software for a wireless mini servers and data center operations network is a software platform that runs and completes the process of who what when and where easily by calling on a group of processes to work in unison at more than one task
Copyright © 2016 Christopher G Brown