

867 wireless network of small devices that operate together when the first available exchange of data is able to make any server operable at any given time is a wireless cloud of processing Copyright © 2016 Christopher G Brown