

972 Making the cloud today on one server as in a qubit written at will connections in micro cloud computing making a system on chip a wireless and hard line data send and receive intent to send with wireless ac and a hard line to receive data or verses in terms at change in software as though there is a grid flash memory system chassis with the intent to be an entire cloud in a microscopic form only in systems Copyright © Christopher g Brown 2017