

987 Write enabled un Scribed Chip Design would be a un written chip that could be written to and can be a unlocked blank chip based on focused layers of data on chip for function abled for on chip designs and configurations to improve the processor and the advancement of technology itself Copyright © Christopher g Brown 2017