Cloud in Print to Cloud in Touch with Us

Touch the Web, Print the Web,

My lightscribe edition of altracks was getting held up and soon enough, while on the phone to a HP tech agent, I mentioned ever tried to print the web… moment of time excluded. Web to print applications that make sense is the mission of all of this. Wiki media foundation donations aside lets all make things that random thoughts can eventually get together and all jump into the same pond. In other words locate and print… what if you really could. Cloud and print into the next few centuries? Forget that I'm nuts and remember that time will tell us all that in the begining the clouds moved aside and God said let there be light.
