1063 to encode qubits in a series of parameters that are extensive and individually controlling in each circumstance of operation and as well as to auto encode written software with software for example a series of events written by software that writes software Copyright © Christopher G Brown 2017