1214 a hyper-embedded directional vector coordinate directions is to travel on any such given processor chip and micro board as well as to repeat and loop in a quantified sequence and method on any given fork traffic changes and in any such given directional return vector frequency of travel Copyright © 2017 Christopher g brown