1301 single os smart software is a software that can use more of any part attached to the system per computation node as a cloud operated single system module with one purpose to increase productivity copyright © 2018 christopher gabriel brown patent abstract utility