

1363 upgradeable secondary level chips that coprocess in an onboard secondary socket that incorporate alternate processing like the central chip but in a on board or in socket form of non graphic non central but in a second level of cache and coprocessing formation of working computational additions far from a memory take away but a embedded solution market Copyright © 2018 Christopher Gabriel Brown