

1401 autonomous landfill mining and dithering mobile dis-assembly plant is a robotics controlled arranged machine that separates the material on a scale per unit of measurement first is the magnetic property of the unit second is the weight of the unit and third is the size and this method is repeated over and over again to a sufficient level of recycled property Copyright © 2018 Christopher Gabriel Brown