

1512 wireless through gateway ping router is a device that allows computers to connect and share files through software and a single router essentially a very small internet by wifi network hardware and software copyright © christopher g brown 2018